

The ABC's of Grant Writing

Bootcamp

*Intended audience

Intended audience including individuals who have little or no experience in writing proposals and wish to develop their writing skills, along with teachers, not-for-profit staff members,.

Bonus!

A 30 minute consult prior to submission.

Date;

Saturday June 4, 2016

Location:

Fairfield Township Fire Dept.
6048 Morris Rd
Hamilton, Ohio 45011

Time:

9:00 - 4:00

Investment

$215

This full-day immersion course focuses on developing the essential skills and knowledge needed to become effective proposal writers. You will become familiar with the key components of a proposal and learn the best practices for developing a well-organized budget and a targeted list of foundation funding prospects.

Topics include:

- What grant reviewers really look for.
- The critical elements of a strong proposal and letter of inquiry.
- * How to best frame your application.
- Crafting a budget that conveys an accurate picture of your project's needs.
- How to find grant opportunities.

You will:

- Develop a project/program logic model to get you started with a strong proposal narrative
- Practice writing selected components of the proposal
- Examine selections of successful grant proposals

Outcomes:

- Gain the knowledge and confidence to write effective proposals and locate grant resources.

Leila Kubesch - Presenter

Author of numerous articles on grant writing, award-winning educator and has written successful grant proposals for over 20 years as a public school teacher. Teaching in inner city schools with limited budgets, she used grant writing to open the doors to huge opportunities for her students. Through these grants, she was able to lead transformative service learning projects, securing books for literacy programs, trips for her students and supplies for her schools leading a group of youth-at-risk students to transform into positive thinkers and successful students.

Regardless of the size of the proposal or project, Leila has the ability to help writers learn how to achieve their goals through grant writing—in fact, she was able to teach her own 8th grade student to write grants and they too could fund their ideas. Leila's additional strength in training comes from her insight into the grant reviewing process, having also served as a grant reviewer for the U.S Department of Education for Title II, III, V, & VII.

Questions? Contact Leila at: lckubesch@yahoo.com